Safety

OUR COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE

January was a great start to 2024!! PRH Group safely serviced multiple communities thru powerline restoration efforts due to the winter storm events throughout the east coast and midwest showcasing resilience and teamwork.

In addition, PRH Group hosted its 3rd Annual Safety Conference on January 19th, engaging over 50 employees in discussions and initiatives to enhance safety protocols. Topics covered included refreshers around our safety policies and procedures, current safety trends in our field of work as well as error traps to continuously be mindful of. We also highlighted how health and wellness play an integral part of our employees' safety by contributing to overall wellbeing as we all strive to be the best versions of ourselves at home and on the job.

To help promote a healthy lifestyle, PRH wrapped up the Safety Meeting by offering all of our employees a healthy and wellness stipend to either kick start or contribute to their wellness journey. Whether it is a membership to a fitness facility, a new set of weights or that new treadmill someone has been eyeing, it all counts. Thank you to Mark Ignasiak with VanWyk Solutions for helping to make this year's Annual Safety Conference another success.

Continuous Education

OUR COMMITMENT TO GROWTH

In an effort to continuously up skill our employees, PRH Group hosted an Excel Refresher for its Leadership Team. The training aimed at ensuring our team stays updated on essential skills to support their growth and development as well as improve efficiency to ensure they have the right tools to perform their jobs.

During the Excel Refresher session, the group delved into advanced functions and formulas, data visualization techniques, and tips for improving efficiency in spreadsheet management. The training provided a comprehensive overview of the various features in Excel empowering the team to optimize their data analysis processes and streamline decision-making.

Through interactive exercises and practical examples, participants were able to enhance their proficiency and confidence in utilizing Excel as a powerful tool for strategic planning and reporting.

The session not only fostered a collaborative learning environment but also reinforced the importance of continuous skill development to drive innovation and productivity within the organization. As the Leadership Team embraced the knowledge gained during the Excel Refresher, they were better equipped to lead by example and inspire a culture of excellence and continuous improvement across the company.

Our Stakeholders

WHAT MATTERS TO US

Wrapping up the month, The CEO and CFO of our company had the honor of being guest speakers at the prestigious 2024 Scale It Live Business conference in Los Angeles, California. The event showcased cutting-edge insights and discussions on various crucial aspects of business growth. Our executives participated in the Inspiration Panel, sharing their experiences and insights with a captivated audience.

The conference's content encompassed critical themes such as Strategic Hires, emphasizing the importance of recruiting top talent to drive organizational success. Our leaders highlighted the pivotal role of strategic hires in achieving sustained growth and fostering innovation within our company.

Leadership Development and Organization were key focuses, with sessions delving into effective leadership strategies and organizational structures. The CEO and CFO shed light on our company's approach to leadership development, emphasizing a commitment to cultivating a dynamic and empowered workforce.

The Strategic Vision of the company was a central theme. They shared how aligning strategic vision with day-to-day operations has been instrumental in our company's success and adaptability to industry changes.

The conference provided an invaluable platform for networking and knowledge exchange, allowing our leaders to engage with industry peers, gain insights into emerging trends, and contribute to the collective wisdom of the business community. The experience affirmed our commitment to innovation, strategic thinking, and the ongoing development of our organization as we continue to scale new heights in the dynamic business landscape.
